Math 4-Square Homework

The previous night's 4-square is reviewed in class each day at the start of math. If your child has errors, these need to be corrected each night before starting on the current night's work. I grade these and have noticed that many students are not taking the opportunity to fix their errors, which leads to very low scores entered into my grade book. Please remind your child that these errors must be fixed prior to turning in the 4-square for a grade.
